Reliving Glory Days

First World Series of Certamen

By Dylan Drolette
Lunenburg High School

The World Series of Certamen was a chance to relive old glories or, in some cases, to beat old students for SCLers and other ex-JCLers. The competition started with an altered set of rules, including one which allowed moderators to ridicule and mock players for incorrect answers. Also prevalent was the main rule: no whining. The teams were quite interesting, with names such as FL Juggernauts or the Sex Vultures.

Once the teams were created, the matches were selected and the venerable veterans met in battle for the first time since high school.

Convention at Barnstable a New Experience

By Christopher Chan
Tewksbury Memorial HS

"It was good. Better than I expected," said my friend Liam Sheehy, when asked how his first JCL convention was. This sentiment is expected from those who have never experienced the fellowship, frivolity, and fantastic energy of a JCL gathering. What isn't expected is that, after two of my own state conventions, I felt the same way.

The new setting of the convention made it a new experience for everyone, including the seasoned seniors in our midst. New elements such as an ice cream party and the gladiator games made successful debuts, while the traditional spirit games and dance were carried on. This 51st Convention effectively blended tradition with new ideas.

There was no limit to events at Barnstable. As soon as we got off the bus we were busy. The costume contest was great fun, rehearsing our speeches about the ancient garb while meeting

Letter from the Editor

The things I've done in JCL compare to nothing else in my life. I've ridden on top of trash bags full of rotting milk bottles in a JCL recycling drive. I've had noodle fights. I've gone on an eighteen hour bus ride, with three stops. I've jumped in a fountain. And I've done this all not because I've lost it somewhere along the line. No, I've done all this because I know what the Junior Classical League is. JCL is an association of people who share a common interest. This shared interest brings together so many different people, I doubt there is anything more encompassing.

The Classics' power is no less evident at Nationals than at States. People come from all over the country to participate. Only here could one walk across a college campus in a toga, and get greeted as the Aeolus I was. No words can describe how much the week in Tennessee felt like home. I encourage every member of JCL (and those who aren't as well) to consider attending the Convention next year. Guaranteed, it will be one of the best weeks of your life. I would bet Ryan Manning on it.

Bazaar Sells Well

By Anthony Pan
Boston Latin Academy

Howdy Y'all! At the 54th Annual NJCL Convention in Knoxville, Tennessee, MassJCL's Bazaar was as successful as it has always been these past years. In my opinion, it was an awesome experience considering that this was my first national convention. I was placed in charge of opening & closing the bazaar, managing the sales and aiding Ms. Fillion in inventory work. This year, MassJCL sold many of the same items as in past years, such as jewelry and greeting cards. New items included gimp made by Malika Dickson and me, and a mythology chess game made by Michael Howard. Our items sold fast, and after the final bazaar, practically everything was gone. This was only possible with the help of several MassJCLers with their sales personalities, charm and skills. I want to personally take this time to give my thanks to these dedicated MassJCLers who came everyday to help me with the bazaar. Thank you! Without your help, the bazaar wouldn't have been as successful as it was. MassJCL made a decent profit and should be very proud. I enormously enjoyed my first NJCL convention with wonderful memories which I can cherish and remember, especially at the bazaar. Thank you MassJCL, especially to those who helped make our merchandise: Anicka Samuel, Becca Gwaltney, Bernice Tan, Danthuy Chu, Ms. Fillion, Anthony Pan, Jacob Meister, Jessica Wu, Karyn Greene, Katherynne Andujar, Merilyn Mancio, Mrs. Chan, Malika Dickson, Paula Luong, Nick Robinette, and Elizabeth Do.

Reliving Glory Days

World Series of Certamen Debuts

The matches were fascinating to say the least, with questions changing from Quid significat anglice unus? to Name the four horsemen of Helios.

Even more crazy were the points given. Players were given half points at the discretion of the moderator. Some notable moments include a member of the audience receiving five points for a failed bribery attempt, and the statement "I'll give you a hundred points if you get the answer before the toss-up." Even our own Ms. Keeley scored ten points for her team when she applied a JCL tattoo to her forehead.

From the players themselves, praise seems unending. Of the game, our Isaac Meister stated, "Most players found the new challenge interesting and refreshing." Massachusetts's own Certamen coach Mr. Cox stated, "...a great success." Mr. Cox's team finished the tournament in third place.

All in all, the tournament was a cross between competitive and open certamen, with the competition of the former and the lightheartedness of the latter.

Hosting the State

Newest Chapter Hosts New Convention

By Liz Rubino
Barnstable High School

'I thought Latin was dead' was one of the many thoughts going through Cape Cod residents minds as they read the front page header and article of the Cape Cod Times the next day following the state convention held at Barnstable High School this year. Two years ago, I hadn't known that the JCL existed, and now hundreds of students were coming to my school to share our passion for Latin for the 51st annual state convention. Hosting states was both strange and thrilling. I had never heard of things like certamen or the worm before the JCL, but now Barnstable was gaining status with spirit and competition. In the end, I am glad that people enjoyed our school enough to want to come back again next year. It is also always good to know that people were satisfied with the shuttle service enough that they took round trips, riding up and down the streets of Hyannis. The wheel marks on the football field imprinted from chariot racing was well worth the confused looks of Barnstable athletes. And when I step out to the track, I will always be reminded of Olympika, gladiator fights, the worm, and the infamous toga parade. I want to give Kudos to all the help that was put into the convention, and to everyone who was willing to be in school on a weekend. Speaking for Barnstable, I can't wait to host states again and make this tradition.

"...even driven to sing Sexy Back..."

we were Roman. I enjoyed competing in Certamen, battling in the gladiator arena, playing in the spirit games, and introducing myself to the voting delegates. The nightlife was thriving, featuring the dance, the ice cream party, and karaoke.

A couple of chaperones, or are they?

Our final day in Hyannis was no less eventful than the rest. Dodgeball was exhilarating, even if my school lost. Ribbons were won with great pride and accomplishment, as we know that we study a truly living language.

The culmination of convention was, of course, the spirit parade, where we all showed school and club pride. We were even driven to sing SexyBack!

The transfer of the state convention to Barnstable was a great move. With the longer schedule, the convention offered something for everyone. Whether you enjoy athletics, academics, or just simply having fun, this convention is truly the best around.

The Certamen Experience

By Alexa Wall

Barnstable High School

Having only watched certamen at state and local levels, I didn't know what to expect at Nationals-but I was amazed. In small groups, the game is fun and lively; at this year's nation-wide convention it was an exciting, nail-biting, fast-paced experience. As our team flew through the first three rounds with high scores, I couldn't wait for the semi-finals.

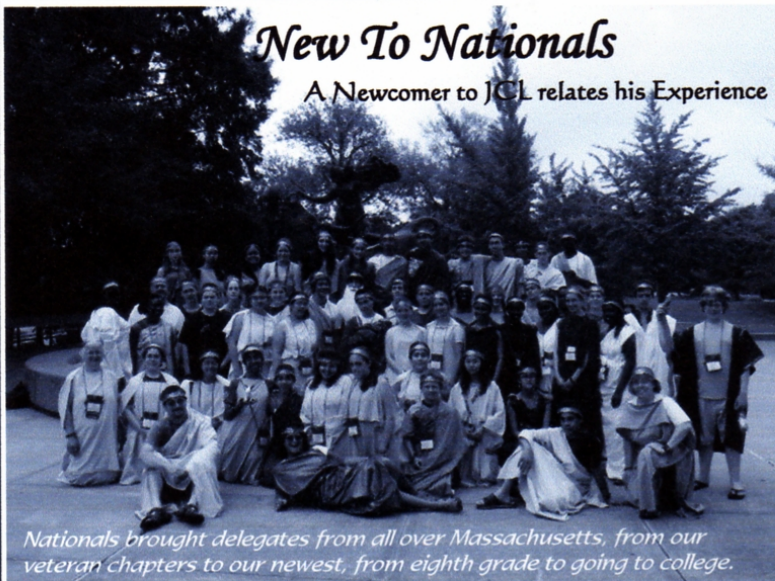

Though we didn't quite make it to finals, what I've witnessed has been an unforgettable experience nonetheless. Our team was not four people, but rather one unit seamlessly interwoven. Of them, coach Kevin Cox says, "It's been fun working with such a great group of students." And what a group they are! They are very supportive of each other-James Carroll wanted it especially known that "Jacob did a very good job." Jacob had a good outlook on the game they played. "We did well and didn't just lie down. We gave it our all, and it was really down to the last question."

Chris Londa had a similar view: "Today we had a more experienced opponent, but we had them sweating a bit; they beat us, but we'll be back next year with a vengeance." In this, I've learned how much more than just a game certamen is. I can honestly say it was a highlight of my first Nationals, and I look forward to the tension and fun of the game next year. I think Mr. Cox said it best: "The key to success is just having fun with certamen."

New To Nationals

A Newcomer to JCL relates his Experience

Nationals brought delegates from all over Massachusetts, from our veteran chapters to our newest, from eighth grade to going to college.

By Derek Booth

Turkey Hill Middle School

As this is my first year of Latin, it was my first chance to go to any JCL convention, and I went to both. As States came to a close, I thought I would never see anything even remotely as crazy. I was proved wrong.

The experience started a 2:30 in the morning, Monday, July 23rd. We had to leave at 3:00 from Lunenburg to get to Boston Latin School at 4:30. In Boston we embarked on a bus to Tennessee. Yes, this was a trip of over eighteen hours of excruciating anticipation. We finally arrived at Convention after staying at a motel to weather the storm.

This convention is one of my best memories, with its spirit, certamen, Olympika, and other competitions; a memory I will cherish. I encourage the new members out there to come, check in at the NJCL convention, make friends from far away places, try some competitions, and have the time of your life.

Zeus & Europa

Exploring the Fountain

By Jacob Meister

Boston Latin School

For the second year in a row, the campus chosen for the NJCL convention boasted a classically themed fountain. In Indiana, only a year ago, there was a fountain that depicted the birth of Venus; coupled with the relentless haze and humidity, it was a lovely thing to take a break by its cooling sprays, or even just to gaze upon (you'd feel ten degrees cooler just looking at it!). In a similar thought, the University of Tennessee at Knoxville boasted another amorous myth—that of Zeus and Europa.

According to the most well-known version of the myth,

Europa was seduced by Zeus in the form of a bull; after a very brief "courtship", Zeus abducted Europa, carrying her off to the island of Crete, where she bore Minos, Rhadymanthys, and Sarpedon—the future judges of the Underworld. Her greatly distressed father, Agenor, sent her brothers to recover her; the foundations of great cities, such as Thebes were sprung from this search. The statue itself seemed to be a completely different Europa than the subdued, startled Europa I had read of since first year Latin. This Europa really seemed to be riding Zeus, scandalously clad, and strongly reminiscent of the bull worship at Cretan palaces, like Knossos. It was the site of our officer picture—but I hope that there is no connection between any of our executive board members and a sex-driven god...
